Are you using a multivitamin?

If you are serious about your training and health, you are likely to be using a multivitamin. Reflex Nutrition manufacture two ultra-high quality vitamin products under the NEXGEN® brand, arguably the finest quality multivitamin products commercially available. These products are made in capsule rather than tablet form, this allows for greater absorption by the body. They contain vitamins and minerals in chelated forms, these are higher quality and more readily used by the body than oxide forms which are used by most other brands of multivitamin. For the conscientious sportsperson try NEXGEN®, for the professional athlete try NEXGEN® PRO.
